

• work statement

I make individual illustrated stoneware vessels that record the richness of places in flux. I'm concerned with moments in time before the demolition starts, or the sanitising effaces, when nature and the elements have begun to transform. Combining my own unique method of printing with iron onto slipped raw clay, I create images from my own photographs and collages and from maps and old documents. The vessels are hand built from the printed slabs, the forms retaining a simplicity that provides a canvas for the multi-layered and often highly detailed imagery, which appears on every available surface, both inside and out.

A Professional Member of Craft Potters Association, I have exhibited widely in the UK and internationally. In London, I regularly show with StArt Space, 150 Columbia Road, London E2 7RG and at Wills Art Warehouse, 180 Lower Richmond Road, London SW15 1LY. My work is included in the collections of the Potteries Museum, Stoke-on-Trent and the Geffrye Museum, Hackney, London. I enjoy working to commission, using maps of particular buildings or places. Details of how to commission work can be found on my website at www.annabelfaraday.co.uk

• education

Attended Winchester School of Art and Croydon College of Art in the late 1960's. Subsequently B.A.(Hons) in Sociology and a PhD at Essex University. Completed Fine and Applied Arts (Ceramics) course at the City Lit, London in 1991.
